DETAILED ACTIONResponse to Amendment

In response to the amendment filed September 24, 2004 in which the applicant amends claim 1 and claims 1-40 are pending in this office action.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

1. Claims 1-40 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-36 of copending Application No. 10/067963. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because claims 1-36 of the copending Application No. 10/067963 "anticipates" application serial number 09/556839 of claims 1-40. Accordingly, the application of claims 1-40 are not patentably distinct from copending Application No. 10/067963 of claims 1-36. Here, copending Application No. 10/067963 of claims 1-36 requires a toy figure, a first game system configured to communicate with the toy figure, a second game system configured to communicate with the toy figure while the application of claims 1-40 only requires elements toy figure, a first game system configured to communicate with the toy figure, a second game system configured to communicate with the toy figure, the first game system includes a first design, and the second game system includes a second design. Thus it is apparent that the more specific copending Application No. 10/067963 of claims 1-36 encompasses the application of claims 1-40. Following the rationale in In re Goodman cited in the preceding paragraph, where applicant has once been granted a patent containing a claim for the specific or narrower invention, applicant may not then obtain a second patent with a claim for the generic or broader invention without first submitting an appropriate terminal disclaimer.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

The examiner maintains the double patenting rejection as noted above. The "provisional" double patenting rejection should continue to be made by the examiner in each application as long as there are conflicting claims in more than one application unless that "provisional" double patenting rejection is the only rejection remaining in one of the applications. If the "provisional" double patenting rejection in one application is the only rejection remaining in that application, the examiner should then withdraw that rejection and permit the application to issue as a patent, thereby converting the "provisional" double patenting rejection in the other application(s) into a double patenting rejection at the time the one application issues as a patent (MPEP 804 B).

Allowable Subject Matter

2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The prior art does not disclose nor teach in reference to claim 1, the second game system includes a first design that, when communicating with the toy figure, provides one or more second play patterns with the representation of the toy figure developed from the stored information, at least one of the second play patterns being distinct from the first play pattern in combination with the rest of the claimed limitations. The closest prior art of Sharpe in view of Gabai and Gilboa only disclose a second system communicating with the toy figure, that provides a second play pattern with the representation of the toy figure developed from the stored information, the second play pattern being different from the first play pattern and not the toy figure providing one or more second play patterns with the representation of the toy figure developed from the stored information, at least one of the second play patterns being distinct from the first play pattern. The reasons for allowance of claims 34-39 are maintained in the previous office action of paper number 16, Mailed December 18, 2003. This statement is not intended to necessarily state all the reasons for allowance or all the details why claims are allowed and should not imply that all the reasons for allowance have been set forth.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
